

Looking Up

Walking down a street, we don't typically look up. What are we doing when we look up? We turn one's gaze or attention from something else, often by literally lifting one's head or turning one's eyes upward. Or perhaps we do it to perform a search for some particular information. Or maybe it is to contact someone, typically when you are in the area where they live. Maybe it is things are improving, becoming better and continue into the future.

When you next walk down a street, will you look up?

